

Titilaka

ON A REMOTE PRIVATE PENINSULA along the shores of the gleaming Lake Titicaca, this modern, all-inclusive lodge encourages its guests to both make themselves at home—in a magnificent setting—and experience some of the lesser-known aspects of Peruvian culture. All 18 rooms, done in bright colors and dark woods with local art, textiles and fresh flowers, offer lake views through expansive windows. Morning people will want to reserve the Dawn rooms, which receive the day's first light as the sun rises over the lake. (Anyone who values sleeping in will likely prefer the Dusk rooms, which look west to the setting sun over the lake's opposite shore.) And while the charming interior, warm staff and seasonal Relais & Châteaux culinary program are the highlights of a stay here, the primary draw is the surrounding region, which includes visits to pre-Inca archaeological sites and cultural excursions to the Uros Floating Islands.
